Failure Of Tests Cause Of Trouble

By MICHAEL J. O'NEILL
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The government said today that "failure" of its original safety tests was the probable cause of the polio outbreak among children who received Cutter vaccine.

The U. S. Public Health Service said these safety standards—since overhauled—apparently failed to prevent the virus vaccine shots, into some Cutter vaccine bottles, caused at least some of the 100 polio cases connected directly or indirectly with the Cutter vaccine.

In a six page report on its four month investigation of the Cutter incident, the Health Service frankly conceded that the "exact reason" for live virus found in at least three Cutter lots "could not be found."

Checked Faulting Source
But it declared that its investigation "produced nothing which pointed to contamination as a source of the live virus." Scientists had checked the possibility that this might have occurred during the bottling of the vaccine by Cutter and after final safety tests had been made.

On the contrary, the Health Service said, the evidence suggested that "this cause of the trouble was inadequate inactivation killing of the virus coupled with failure of the safety test to demonstrate the presence of virus."

The Health Service pointed out before May 27 that inadequate killing of the virus "was not unusual in the experience of several of the manufacturers." It also said there were "fundamental weaknesses in the safety testing procedures."

Started New Standards
On May 27 new safety standards were put into effect by the government.

Both inactivation and the testing are governed by the government standards which were, drastically overhauled in the wake of the Cutter incident.

A spokesman said that the license of the Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif., to manufacture the vaccine has not been revoked and that, to his knowledge, no such action is contemplated. He said Cutter officials will meet here next month to consider the company's future plans.

Previously, the government permitted Cutter to resume production of the vaccine which was halted when the Cutter cases broke. So far, however, it has not submitted new batches for approval.

The Health Service report said 79 persons suffered polio within 90 days after receiving Cutter vaccine. Forty-six of these, it said, occurred among six suspect lots from Cutter's laboratories.

Murray Lady Radio Show Winner

Mrs. Mary Beck of Murray was a telephone contestant on the radio program, "Phrase That Pays," Wednesday morning. She was the recipient of twelve $100 prizes and a wardrobe of Spring-summer clothes.

The Murray lady competed with a studio contestant who tried to identify the phrase that Mrs. Beck had sent to the program sponsors. The phrase was "Can't Even Boil Water."

The radio program, sponsored by the Colgate-Palmolive Company, is heard each week day morning over WNC.

Airman And His Wife Together

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 25 (AP)—Airman Daniel C. Schmidt and his wife, Una, were back together again today in a honeymoon hideaway.

Una, who said she married another man in the belief Schmidt had died in Red China, flew to Portland from California Wednesday night for a reconciliation with the 25-year-old airman.

The meeting at the home of Schmidt's mother, Mrs. Nellie Peters, culminated in their decision to go back together. Una said, in an exclusive interview with United Press, that this time it was "for keeps if Danny wants me."

Schmidt, who said it was "one of the happiest moments of my life," smiled at his 20-year-old wife's remark and indicated he was in complete accord by soundly kissing her on the cheek.

After a short stay at Mrs. Peters' home, the couple left for a hideaway at an Oregon beach.

As for her other husband, Una said "Mr. Fine is completely out of the picture."

Pressed for further details of how Una was being disposed of, Una said she couldn't "tell that."

New Hurricane Boils Up In The Pacific

MIAMI, Aug. 25 (AP)—A newborn hurricane with winds of 80 miles per hour churned the Atlantic far from the twice-ravaged eastern U.S. coast today, and weathermen hopefully predicted it might die at sea.

Small but growing Hurricane Edith, fifth storm of the season, appeared aimed toward the deerskin routes of Connie and Diane.

"We won't be able to tell where it's headed, for at least two or three days," a U.S. weather forecaster said Wednesday night, "but this one has a good chance of staying at sea."

"She began farther north and east than either Connie or Diane, when those two were at the same stage as Edith they were farther south."

The Miami Weather Bureau estimated at midnight EDT that Edith was centered at 21.7 N. 84.4 W. about 680 miles east-northeast of San Juan, P.R., or about 1,550 miles east-southeast of Miami.

The tempo-fourth full-fledged hurricane of the season, was moving in a west-northwesterly direction about 13 miles per hour, it was estimated from reports of the storm. Gales extended 150 miles north and east of the center and 50 miles south and west.

The Weather Bureau predicted Edith would continue moving in the same course at the same speed for the next 12 hours, gradually increasing in size and intensity.

Edith, the fifth tropical disturbance of the year, boiled up suddenly Wednesday.

A reconnaissance plane that had been diverted from a regular weather patrol to check on a weak easterly wave in the area, discovered the whirling just as it was growing to full hurricane strength.

The Air Force sent one of its storm again today to get more definite reports of its location and behavior.

Ships in the area were warned immediately of Edith's danger but the new hurricane was not expected to threaten any landfall for days.

Police Have Unwelcome Visitors

HARLAN, Aug. 24 (AP)—State police have some unwelcome prisoners in the furnace room of their barracks here—seven rattlesnakes and a copperhead seized Sunday at snake-handling rites of the Holiness Church of God.

Sgt. Roy E. Cundiff, in charge of the state police post at Harlan, said the boxes of snakes at a religious ceremony, now free on bond, he faces a fine of between $50 and $100 if he pleads guilty.

Meanwhile the state troopers would like to get rid of the snakes. A court official here said the snakes probably won't be needed at the trial, but the troopers want a court order before they destroy them.

Suffering Eases In Flood Stricken Northeast Areas

By UNITED PRESS
Suffering eased in the flood stricken northeast today under one of the most effective rehabilitation programs ever undertaken in the United States.

The hungry were being fed, the homeless were given temporary family shelters, communications were restored, roads were cleared and open to traffic, and industries began digging out debris and drying out equipment in preparation to resume operations.

The U.S. Army Engineers, with handling a 100 million dollar government relief program, gave notice that rehabilitation was already well in progress.

Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker announced in Washington that "all relief request to the Army have been or are being met."

Surplus Food Distributed
Further plans were made to remove debris, health and safety hazards and restore public facilities in the six state flood area.

The Agriculture Department opened surplus food stores in the stricken states for use as needed by flood victims.

Trailer homes prefabricated houses, factories and other sheltering were offered to the 100,000 homeless.

Residents of the flood area themselves contributed the greatest effort to the rehabilitation. The International Ladies Garment Workers union CIO appropriated $100,000 for flood victims. AFL President George Meany contributed $1,000 and urged affiliated unions' aid to "is amount."

More than 80 entertainers and sports figures, including Eddie Fisher, Paul Whiteman, Lauritz Melchior, Sherry Briffon, Archie Ryer and Rocky Marciano, rushed to West Hartford, Conn., Wednesday night for an all night TV appearance to appeal for aid for flood victims.

Contributions Pour in President Eisenhower's appeal Wednesday for "spontaneous" contributions to flood relief brought widespread and immediate results.

Three New York chapters of the Red Cross alone reported 5,300 contributions totaling more than $200,000.

CIO President Walter Reuther pledged $100,000 from the United Auto Workers union. The United Steel Workers CIO contributed $25,000. The CIO Textile Workers union prepared to send a "substantial sum" for relief and rehabilitation.

The death toll in an eight-state area hit by the floods was 263. Scores were still missing but no trace of their bodies had been found after days of searching through silt and debris.

The state-by-state death toll included: Pennsylvania 115, Connecticut 50, Massachusetts 23, New Jersey 8, New York 4, Virginia 2, Rhode Island 2, and Delaware 1. Damage was estimated at 3 billion dollars.

Mr. E. B. Brandon's Back Is Broken In Accident

Cottage Grove Couple Are Killed

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watkins, of route three, Cottage Grove, were instantly killed yesterday morning at 10:30 when their car collided with another car near Anna, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins were returning to Henry County from East St. Louis, Ill., where they had been to visit their daughter, Mrs. Roy S. Yarbrough.

Details of the accident were learned immediately. It occurred just north of Anna. Their son, Fred Watkins, was driving the car when the accident occurred, and two grandchildren, Steve Yarbrough, 12 and Sladen Yarbrough, 8, were also in the vehicle, returning for a visit with their grandparents.

Fred Watkins is in City Hospital in Anna, but there was no report on his condition. The two grandchildren were not thought to have been seriously injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins lived in northwest Henry County, near Hayes Store, where they operated a farm. He was 64 and she was 58.

They are survived by two other sons, Mac Watkins and Charles R. Watkins, both of Henry County, and another daughter, who lives in Clarksville.

Cooler Weather Is Fishing Aid

FRANKFORT, Aug. 24 (AP)—Cooler weather has brought better fishing in all of Kentucky's lakes and streams and increased activity by anglers, the state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reported today.

The water temperature has dropped from three to five degrees during the past few weeks. Striped bass led the list of good catches at Kentucky Lake with crappie, catfish and black bass below the dam reported improved.

Lake Cumberland offered good catches of crappie in depths of 25 to 50 feet at night. Pike were reported being taken in good numbers by trolling with deep running baits off the rock points.

Crappie ranked first at Dale Hollow where bluegills were also being taken off the deep banks. Herrington Lake reported crappie.

Chandler Won By 18,121 Votes

FRANKFORT, Aug. 25 (AP)—Complete but unofficial, returns in the August primary election showed today that A. B. Chandler won the Democratic nomination for governor by 18,121 votes.

The count gave Chandler a total of 259,875 votes. His opponent, Bert T. Combs, received 241,754 votes.

The figures came from an unofficial tabulation of returns in the office of Charles K. O'Connell, secretary of state. The figures will have to be double-checked against possible error.

O'Connell's office expected to complete its official tally in the governor's race sometime today.

The State Election Commission will go over the official returns and certify the winners.

Camp Fund Progressing Says Foster

W. F. Foster of Mayfield, General Chairman, states that solicitations for the Four Rivers Boy Scout reservation campaign are well under way in the ten counties that comprise the council. The returns that are coming in are most encouraging and indicate that there is much interest in this worthy project.

The public will remember that the funds being raised in this campaign are for the development of a year-round camping reservation on Kentucky Lake. The dream of such a facility for the 15,000 boys in the Four Rivers Council is now fast becoming a reality. This is an opportunity for everyone to be "A Builder for Boys"—an opportunity for the ten counties of the council to work together in providing adequate camping facilities that any one county alone might find difficult to provide.

There are only a few days left in the campaign and it is earnestly hoped that when this activity has ended the council will have the necessary funds to build the camp that is so greatly needed in the present Scouting program.

MTS FFA Is Busy During Summer

By Chapter Reporter
The Murray Training F.F.A. has participated in many activities during the summer vacation period. Seven boys attended the Leadership Training Center at Hardinsburg, Ky. They were: Donald Crawford, Larry Suiter, Robert Barrett, Dan Billington, Wells Owen, Jerry Hale, and Glen Grogan.

These boys attended classes which were designed to acquaint them with their responsibilities as officers, and train them to be better leaders in their chapter and community. The schedule also included recreational activities.

Gerald Cohoon, Bobby Mesdor, and Jerry Hale attended the annual Purchase Parish Dairy Picnic held at the W. F. Foster Farm in Graves County. They got some valuable practice in judging dairy cattle.

Another activity in which we participated was the County Dairy Show. Boys participating from our chapter were: Charles Outland, Gerald Cohoon, Eugene Armstrong, Bobby Mesdor, and Donald Crawford. These boys entered twelve animals, seven of which placed blue ribbon, three red, and two white. Charles Outland's senior yearling was Jr. Champion of the show.

Charles Outland, Bobby Mesdor and James Outland showed seven animals in the District Dairy Show at Mayfield. Five of these placed blue, one red and one white. Charles and James Outland showed seven animals in the open show.

Gerald Suiter, who is now serving as treasurer for the Purchase District Federation, represented the district in a meeting held on the campus of the University of Kentucky Aug. 11-13. The purpose of the meeting was to plan activities for the coming year. The meeting was held in conjunction with the regular planning committee of the Teachers of Vocational Agriculture.

Donald Crawford left Aug. 7th to attend a four day Cooperative Conference at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. Our chapter, was selected to send a representative to this conference because we are expecting a good report from Donald on this conference at our September meeting.

Donald said that he would like to take this opportunity to thank the following sponsors for making this trip possible. They are: Valley County of Kentucky Cooperative, Western Dark Fined Tobacco Association, Kentucky Artificial Breeding Association, Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association and the Calloway County Soil Improvement Association.

He is now at the Murray Hospital, resting as well as can be expected.

His sons are here in Murray with the exception of Howard, who just left with his wife early yesterday morning, to return to Fort Lewis, Washington where he is stationed.

Baby Is Found Not Harmed

CASSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 25 (AP)—A two-year-old boy, who toddled away from his home without a stitch of clothing was found early today, "cold but unharmed," after being lost for 15 hours in the rugged Ozark hills of southern Missouri.

The child, Gail Taylor, apparently wandered into the brush Wednesday afternoon as his mother was preparing to give him a bath.

Mrs. Beatie Edwards and her 16-year-old son, Joe, heard a whimper and discovered Gail in a strawberry patch.

OFFICIALS DENY TRYING TO GET FLOOD INDUSTRY

ATLANTA, Aug. 25 (AP)—Officials of four Southern states today denied they are sending any "shoals" to pick over flood-ravaged industries of the northeast.

Spokesmen in South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee said Dixie's industrial development program was misrepresented in published charges that they seek to take advantage of the flood.

The charges published in New York by the World Telegram and Sun provoked an angry comment by Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of hard-hit Connecticut that "I've never heard of a more ghoulish thing."

The newspaper charged that a South Carolina agent planning a trip to Connecticut next week to try to persuade industries to move southward would become a "reverse carpet barker" taking advantage of the flood. Similar accusations were made against the other states.

Acting Director Sloan W. Gable of the South Carolina Development Board said the trip, planned long ago as part of a continuing drive to attract industry to the state, had no connection with the flood.

Virtually the same replies were made by Scott Candler, Georgia secretary of commerce; Ben E. Douglas, director of conservation and development in North Carolina; and Dr. George I. Whitlatch, chief industry scout for Tennessee.

ACTION APPRECIATED

We were pleased, when we returned from a vacation, to find that the City School Board had taken action on naming the city elementary schools. The school on South Ninth Street was named for A. B. Austin, who passed away a little over a year ago, and the new school on South Thirteenth Street was named in honor of W. Z. Carter, present school superintendent, who has done an outstanding job in that capacity.

We are glad that a school was named after A. B. Austin, not because we suggested it several months ago, but because such a man should be honored.

We are pleased too that Zelma Carter was honored by having the new school on South Thirteenth named after him. We are a firm believer in honoring the living while they are in position to appreciate the honor.

A. B. Austin was honored many times during his lifetime, but we feel sure that he would highly appreciate the honor which has been bestowed on him by the appreciative City School Board.

Brining Important In Making Pickles

Cucumbers which have been cured in brine from 6 to 8 weeks make crisp, better flavored and darker green pickles than those brined for a shorter period, according to Extension food specialists at the University of Kentucky. Cucumbers should be placed in the brine within 24 hours after picking to prevent hollow pickles. Coarse salt and if possible, soft water, should be used in the carefully measured proportion of 1 to 10 for the brine. To keep pickles from floating to the top, place a plate on them, held down with a weight. The brine should be tested frequently by putting an egg in it. If the egg fails to float, place more salt on the plate, to be gradually dissolved by the water. For recipes and additional suggestions on pickling, write to the University for Circular 461, "Making Pickles and Relishes."

Red Skelton Plotting For TV Series

By VERNON SCOTT

United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD 24—Red Skelton has spent the summer plotting his fall TV series and has come up with a scheme to bring his old radio characters back to television and put 'em to work.

Last season the irrepressible funnyman built his show around situation comedy. He stuck pretty much with being Red Skelton.

"This year things will be different," the happy redhead explained. "I'm going to do an entirely new show. First of all I've got some new characters. One is a gal named Miss Sniffmore—a takeoff on the old radio character, Polly the pumphantler."

"Another new one is Professor A La Carte. He's a one-man panel show. There ain't nothin' the Professor don't know—or can't make up."

Photography: His Hobby Red was interrupted by a man who came into his living room carrying a huge carton filled with new camera equipment. Red rummaged through the box and finally assembled a complicated looking 28mm device to an expensive camera.

"Hobby," he explained. Throughout the rest of our talk Red fired away like a man in a duck blind. He took pictures of everything in the room.

"Some of my well-known characters will be back this fall, too," he went on. "There'll be Cauliflower McPug, Clem Kiddelhopper, Freddie the freeloader and San Fernando Red."

"Only this year they'll have real motivations for what they do. In the past we spread the material around to the characters without much reason for it. This year I'm going to restrict the jokes and gags to the one character they fit—no more switching around."

Even Clem and Cauliflower will have reasons for what they do," Red proceeded to perform small vignettes of each of his characters. Most of them combined a tear with a laugh.

Chews Cigars Chain Fashion Skelton lives in one of Bel Air's loveliest homes. It's situated on five acres of mountain top and has 27 rooms. Red usually charges from room to room as he talks. He chews eight-inch cigars chain fashion. He never smokes them. He just bites them off an inch at a time.

"I've had a weekly show since 1951," he said. "And the only year I didn't survive was the second series. And that's because it was filmed."

"I didn't have the right advice that year, but it wasn't the filming that ruined the show. It was the laugh track. It's the worst thing in television."

"I made movies for almost 15 years and we never had a laugh track. We took a picture out and previewed it. If it wasn't good we'd go back to the studio and do it over."

Experiences Of Comedy Writer Told

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD 25 — Jonathan Winters, the rotund funnyman who replaced George Gobel this summer, says he's one young comic who doesn't want a TV show of his own this fall.

"I think it would be a little premature right now," he says. "Just as it would have been pre- sumptuous for me to try to fill Gobel's shoes."

"I'm in no hurry. People say they don't see enough of Winters on television, and that's the way I like it. When they start telling me otherwise, I'll know I'm in trouble."

The 29-year-old laugh provoker is under contract to NBC-TV and probably will do what the network moguls tell him—whether he likes it or not.

"There's a possibility I may go with the Perry Como show," he went on. "But I wouldn't appear every week—just a couple of times a month."

Has Own Ideas

Although Jonathan doesn't feel qualified to break out with his own show, he does have ideas on what and who Americans will be laughing at for the next five or ten years.

He says the day of the rapid-fire, joke-telling comic is over.

"Successful comedians have to be actors these days," says he. "Timing, facial expressions and body movements are taking over for stand-up guys with a barrelful of jokes. And there'll be few comedians relying on their writers."

"In any business there's a difference between being good and great. The great comedian can be funny without prearranged material."

"Before NBC hired me they put me in a room full of long-faced executives and said, 'Okay, be funny.' They began throwing situations at me and told me to go on from there."

"They wanted me to build laughs on the spur of the moment while they watched."

"It was the roughest thing I ever had to do."

Continuity Man Has Hard Job On TV

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK 25 — What you see on your home screen may be easy on your eyes, but it's hard on the schnozzola of Stockton Helfrich.

Helfrich, a self-styled "blue-nose" is boss of NBC-TV's continuity department. It's his job to boschis which sniffs out material a little too heady for video.

The job has almost as many angles as a folding bench chair. Among other things, Helfrich must see to it that such ticklish problems as murder, divorce, illicit sex, insobriety, disrobing, insanity and torture are treated with discretion and taste. He rides hard on blue jokes and black language. And it's also his chore to crack down on situations that might prove offensive to minority or commercial groups.

Warehouse Killing Complaint — Not so long ago, for example, Helfrich received a letter of complaint from the Warehousemen's League of America. Their squak that too many mystery writers were having people bumped off outside warehouses.

When another script called for the line, "please omit flowers," Helfrich got a caustic communique from a group of florists. The stock exchange complained when a shady stock deal was depicted on the "Martin Kane" show and an Army colonel said Wally Cox had damaged Army morale when "Mr. Peepers" staged a gag attempt to break through the sound barrier on a bicycle.

"I even got a letter from an association of poolroom operators," said Helfrich. "They objected to our showing's many shady characters hanging out in billiard parlors."

Makes Expletive Exceptions — Helfrich's busy nose is called frequently to play these days because of the need many drama writers feel to pencil a "damn" or "hell" into a script. For the most part, these expletives are heard almost as infrequently on NBC as plugs for CBS, but Helfrich does make exceptions.

"It depends upon the weightiness

HURRICANE-SPAWNED WATERS SPREAD DISASTER

MULTI-BILLION DOLLAR FLOODS, spawned by Hurricane Diane, have taken more than 95 lives and torn through large areas of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Massachusetts. At top is a view of the normally peaceful Delaware River and flooded Erie Railroad yards, taken from high above Port Jervis, N. Y. The city has been cut off by the overflooding Delaware and Neversink Rivers which could not hold the heavy rains caused by Hurricane Diane. At bottom, left, water covers all but the roofs of the cars in this parking lot in Port Jervis. At bottom, right, a family uses an Army surplus raft for transportation after their Port Jervis home was engulfed by the flood. In some parts of the inundated city the water rose to more than ten feet. (International Soundphotos)

Warehouse Killing Complaint

Not so long ago, for example, Helfrich received a letter of complaint from the Warehousemen's League of America. Their squak that too many mystery writers were having people bumped off outside warehouses.

When another script called for the line, "please omit flowers," Helfrich got a caustic communique from a group of florists. The stock exchange complained when a shady stock deal was depicted on the "Martin Kane" show and an Army colonel said Wally Cox had damaged Army morale when "Mr. Peepers" staged a gag attempt to break through the sound barrier on a bicycle.

For the most part, these expletives are heard almost as infrequently on NBC as plugs for CBS, but Helfrich does make exceptions.

"It depends upon the weightiness of the show and the need for the word in the show. In no case can profanity be used when it invokes the divine."

Thus far, Helfrich has okayed four "damns," the most recent in the spectacular, "The Fourposter."

Kiddle programs are a principal concern of Helfrich and his staff. The type of violence that might be passed for a late evening show won't do for small fry entertainment.

Along this line, old-time Westerns, sad to say, are biting the dust. "In Westerns," said Helfrich, "we encourage wingings and nippings rather than outright killings. We're also trying to discourage bad grammar and meetings inside saloons."

ACTION APPRECIATED

We were pleased, when we returned from a vacation, to find that the City School Board had taken action on naming the city elementary schools. The school on South Ninth Street was named for A. B. Austin, who passed away a little over a year ago, and the new school on South Thirteenth Street was named in honor of W. Z. Carter, present school superintendent, who has done an outstanding job in that capacity.

We are glad that a school was named after A. B. Austin, not because we suggested it several months ago, but because such a man should be honored.

We are pleased too that Zelma Carter was honored by having the new school on South Thirteenth named after him. We are a firm believer in honoring the living while they are in position to appreciate the honor.

A. B. Austin was honored many times during his lifetime, but we feel sure that he would highly appreciate the honor which has been bestowed on him by the appreciative City School Board.

Mr. and Mrs. Gln Hogancamp will leave soon for Ashley, Ill., where he will be superintendent of the Ashley Elementary Schools. The Hogancamps have spent the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Webb. Senator George E. Overbey and Paul Gholson of Murray have been asked to serve on the Organization Committee of the State of Kentucky in the Crusade for Freedom which will get underway September 4th and continue through October 16th.

Miss Sally Ann Lancaster of Cottage Grove, Tenn., became the bride of Mr. Eli Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Alexander, Murray, in a pretty but simple wedding ceremony performed in Rossville, Georgia, August 21st, at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Klapp have returned home after a week's visit with Mrs. Klapp's sister, Mrs. Roger Bryan and Mr. Bryan of Detroit, Mich.

Members of the Murray High School Band are very proud of the new drums purchased for them recently. Jerry Williams, band director of Murray High, predicts a good band year.

Brining Important In Making Pickles

Cucumbers which have been cured in brine from 6 to 8 weeks make crisp, better flavored and darker green pickles than those brined for a shorter period, according to Extension food specialists at the University of Kentucky. Cucumbers should be placed in the brine within 24 hours after picking to prevent hollow pickles. Coarse salt and if possible, soft water, should be used in the carefully measured proportion of 1 to 10 for the brine. To keep pickles from floating to the top, place a plate on them, held down with a weight. The brine should be tested frequently by putting an egg in it. If the egg fails to float, place more salt on the plate, to be gradually dissolved by the water. For recipes and additional suggestions on pickling, write to the University for Circular 461, "Making Pickles and Relishes."

Red Skelton Plotting For TV Series

By VERNON SCOTT

United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Red Skelton has spent the summer plotting his fall TV series and has come up with a scheme to bring his old radio characters back to television and put 'em to work.

Last season the irrepressible funnymen built his show around situation comedy. He stuck pretty much with being Red Skelton. "This year things will be different," the happy redhead explained. "I'm going to do an entirely new show. First of all I've got some new characters. One is a gal named Miss Sniffmore—a takeoff on the old radio character, Polly the pushover."

Another new one is 'Professor A La Carte. He's a one-man band show. There ain't nothin' the Professor don't know—or can't make up."

Photography His Hobby
Red was interrupted by a man who came into his living room carrying a huge carton filled with new camera equipment. Red rummaged through the box and finally assembled a complicated looking flash device to an expensive camera.

"Hobby," he explained. Throughout the rest of our talk Red fired away like a man in a duck blind. He took pictures of everything in the room.

"Some of my well-known characters will be back this fall, too," he went on. "There'll be Cauliflower McPug, Clem Kiddelhopper, Freddie the freeloader and San Fernando Red."

"Only this year they'll have real motivations for what they do. In the past we spread the material around to the characters without much reason for it. This year I'm going to restrict the jokes and gags to the one character they fit—no more switching around."

Even Clem and Cauliflower will have reasons for what they do. Red proceeded to perform small vignettes of each of his characters. Most of them combined a tear with a laugh.

Chews-Cigars Chain Fashion
Skelton lives in one of Bel Air's loveliest homes. It's situated on five acres of mountain top and has 27 rooms. Red usually charges from room to room as he talks. He chews—eight-inch—cigars—chain fashion. He never smokes them. He just bites them off an inch at a time.

"I've had a weekly show since 1951," he said. "And the only year I didn't survive was the second series. And that's because it was filmed."

"I didn't have the right advice that year, but it wasn't the filming that ruined the show. It was the laugh track. It's the worst thing in television."

"I made movies for almost 15 years and we never had a laugh track. We took a picture out and previewed it. If it wasn't good we'd go back to the studio and do it over."

Among other things, Helffrich must see to it that such ticklish problems as murder, divorce, illicit sex, incoherence, disrobing, insanity and torture are treated with discretion and taste. He rides herd on blue jokes and black language. And it's also his chore to crack down on situations that might prove offensive to minority or commercial groups.

Not so long ago, for example, Helffrich received a letter of complaint from the Warehousemen's League of America. Their squawk that too many mystery writers were having people bumped off outside warehouses.

When another script called for the line, "please omit flowers," Helffrich got a caustic communique from a group of florists. The stock exchange complained when a shady stock deal was depicted on the "Martin Kane" show and an Army colonel said Wally Cox had damaged Army morale when "Mr. Peepers" staged a gag attempt to break through the sound barrier on a bicycle.

"I even got a letter from an association of poolroom operators," said Helffrich. "They objected to our showing many shady characters hanging out in billiard parlors."

Makes Expletive Exceptions
Helffrich's busy nose is called frequently to play these days because of the need for many drama writers feel to pencil a "damn" or "hell" into a script. For the most part, these expletives are heard almost as infrequently on NBC as plugs for CBS, but Helffrich does make exceptions.

BICENTENNIAL OBSERVED By U.S. ARMY CHAPLAINS

WASHINGTON — U. S. Army chaplains throughout the world celebrate the bicentennial of the establishment of military chaplains in American armed forces this year.

Two hundred years ago 1755, town clergymen joined the troops taking part in the French and Indian War, not to fight but to minister to the spiritual wants of their fellows.

Gary Cooper Not At Loss For Words

By VERNON SCOTT

United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Biggest faction in Hollywood is that Gary Cooper is at a loss for words after he runs out of "yeps" and "nopes"—the guy talks a blue streak when he gets started.

The raw-boned actor earned his "aw, shucks" reputation because he doesn't go in for small talk. But if a subject comes along that interests him Coop speaks thoughtfully and at length.

"That 'yep' and 'nope' stuff was funny at first," the lanky star said. "But they're overdoing it now. I'm getting a little tired of it."

Cooper sprawled on his dressing room couch between scenes and cursed the hot weather. Then he swung into a discussion of his new picture, "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell."

"I first ran into the Mitchell case about 25 years ago when I was making 'Wings' at Kelly Field. Mitchell had been stationed there not long before."

Mitchell sounded warnings and believed in him. It's too damned bad the rest of the country didn't feel the same way.

"At that time all the flyers were laid out plans that would have made the Pearl Harbor attack impossible. He called the turn on how strike. He even said they'd launch their planes from ships—and that was long before the term 'aircraft carrier' came into the language."

Cooper said the Warner Brothers picture would have been made long ago if the controversy surrounding Mitchell hadn't been too hot to handle. Gary's made a thorough study of the pioneer aviator since he was cast in the role.

"It's good 'this picture is being made," he said. "It touched on some things you can't very often touch in movies. For one thing, it shows what can happen with national complacency. It could happen again."

U.S. Eighth In Air Power

"In Mitchell's time we ranked eighth in air power. We let down after World War II just as we did after the First World War. We left equipment to rust and rot all over the world."

An old hand at military pictures, Cooper says he can't understand why everyone thinks of him as a cowboy star. "I've played about one-third Western roles, one-third action pictures and the rest modern or costume things," he said. "I planned it that way to keep my career well-balanced."

Cooper seldom speaks without giving thoughtful attention to what he is going to say. Rarely, if ever, has anyone caught the veteran actor making a foolish or thoughtless statement.

"I try not to talk about things I don't know anything about," he grinned. "Some actors get the idea that because they're successful they're qualified to speak on everything—especially politics. Not me."

Cooper went on to other subjects and chatted without pause for almost an hour. And during that time the handsome movie hero didn't once come through with a "nope" or even a "yup."

Many Old TV Favorites Replaced

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — You may be able to spot some of the players without a scorecard this fall, but the chances are you'll have a little trouble with the programs.

Many old favorites among TV shows have been torpedored off the channels. But replacements are rushing in like the U.S. cavalry in the last reel.

Among the definite casualties are: "Meet Millie," "Dear Phoebe," "Mr. Peppers," "Public Defender," "Professional Father" and "The Psi Chi Playhouse."

Biting the video dust, too, are the shows of Donald O'Connor and Ray Bolger. "So This Is Hollywood" and "My Little Margie." "The Men in Action" looks as if it won't be around this autumn either and another possible casualty is "My Favorite Husband." The latter show is auditioning a new cast right now, but CBS-TV hasn't assigned a definite time slot to it.

Big Coming Attractions
Switching from the dead to the quick, ABC-TV is offering half-a-dozen candidates for the big time this coming season.

One of the big hopes of ABC is something called "Warner Brothers Present," a one hour show slated for Tuesday evenings. The series will feature new dramas laced against the sets that were used in such movies as "Casablanca," "Cheyenne" and "King's Row."

ABC-TV also feels it has a sleeper in "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp," a filmed series based on the derring-do of the famous Western hero. Then there's "MGM Parade" which will spot shorts from that studio's library. "The Dupont Cavalcade Theatre," a series based on the lives of contemporary notables; and "Men In Black," a dramatic series about clergymen.

The Walt Disney Studios have turned out two seeming money-winners for ABC-TV this fall — an all-new "Disneyland" and "The Mickey Mouse Club," a five-a-week clamor for the kids.

CBS-TV will have a parade of lion-sized shows for viewers. "You'll Never Get Rich," starring Phil Silvers as a fast-talking, angle-playing Army sergeant will bow in, on Sept. 20. Also making its debut that night will be "Joe and Mabel," a comedy series centered around a New York taxi driver and his girl friend.

Adult Western Shows
On tap for the same network are "It's Always Jan" with Janis Paige; "Robin Hood" with Richard Greene; and "My Friend Flicka" which will feature a horse.

CBS-TV also is touting a Sunday show, "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" and "Gunsmoke," an adult Western sashaying over from radio.

Another adult Western, "Frontier," will move onto NBC-TV channels this season. That network also will launch a filmed dramatic series "Screen Director's Playhouse" and a new show starring Jackie Cooper, "The People's Choice."

However, the big new hope in NBC-TV's stable is "The Perry Como Show," a one-hour extravaganza set for Saturday nights. NBC officials have dropped it into the 8:00 to 9:00 slot, frankly admitting they hope to chop away some of Jackie Gleason's CBS audience with it.

Lower Death Rate Is Recorded

NEW YORK, N.Y. — American wage-earners and their families recorded a lower death rate during the first six months of 1955 than ever before in the country's history. This is on the basis of the experience among the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's millions of industrial policyholders.

Through June, the death rate among these policyholders was 64.4

per 100,000 insured, which compared with the previous minimum of 65.1 established last year, and 68.6 for the first half of 1953.

Tuberculosis mortality was one sixth lower this year than last, and only one half of what it was as recently as three years ago. The company's statisticians report. Other diseases to establish new low death rates this year include the complications of pregnancy and childbirth, and the principal communicable diseases of childhood as a group.

A mild outbreak of respiratory disease early in the year raised the mortality from pneumonia and influenza above that for the corresponding months of 1954. By the end of the January-June period, however, the death rate from these diseases was virtually the same this year as last, when a new minimum was established.

The polio death rate in the insurance experience was the same — 2 per 100,000 — in both years. The reported number of cases in the general population of the United States, however, decreased from 4,697 in the first half of 1954 to 3,708 in the like period of 1955.

The mortality from the major chronic diseases was not appreciably different from last year's. For the cardiovascular disorders the death rate was 344.9 per 100,000, compared with 347.1 a year ago. The toll from the cancers has remained at last year's level —

About 129 per 100,000. The accident death rate was 5 per cent lower, reflecting decreases in motor vehicle, home, and occupational accidents.

THE GARDEN

A house cellar can provide excellent storage for "cool" vegetables, but not in the furnace room, as that would be too warm. Forty degrees is considered right; potatoes can be held unsprouted for 4 months, or even 6 months, if sprout inhibitor is used. Short spells of below-freezing temperature do no harm, provided the vegetables are permitted to thaw out slowly, undisturbed. In a "cool" vegetable storage, the air should be on the humid side — to hold wilting in check. Little ventilating is needed ordinarily. However, there may at times be enough accumulation of moisture and odor to affect flavor, and a means for changing the air should be provided. Here is a simple way:

From an outside cellar window, remove two panes of glass and replace them with sheets of tin. In one, fit a 6-inch stovepipe all outside and up, and mount a length or two of stovepipe, enough to create draft. This is the outside stack.

In the other tin sheet, fit a similar stovepipe all inside and pointing down and to it hang a sleeve of cloth that clears the floor by 6 inches. Through it fresh air will fall, making it the intake vent.

BACK WITH CASUALTY

INDIAN NATIONALISTS, sworn to free Goa from Portuguese rule, are shown (top) cheering as they marched on the protectorate demanding its liberation. Repulsed by gunfire, they carry their dead and wounded (bottom) from the scene. At least 22 Indians were killed and more than 200 wounded in the border skirmish. After this incident, India and Portugal announced end of diplomatic relations.
